Subject: [External] GAO Interview Request: Public Service Commission of South Carolina

Dear Ms. Boyd,

The Government Accountability Office (GAO) is reviewing federal and state roles in supporting the reliability of the natural gas pipeline system. Specifically, we are looking at what is known about the frequency, causes, and impacts of service interruptions to local distribution companies (i.e., gas utilities) and the extent to which federal and state agencies can mitigate the risk of these interruptions. GAO is doing this work based on a request from Senator Jack Reed, ranking member of the Senate Committee on Appropriations, Housing and Urban Development Subcommittee, and Senator Sheldon Whitehouse.

To better understand the role of state agencies, we are reaching out to public utility commissions across the country, including the Public Service Commission of South Carolina.

Would you or someone else at the Public Service Commission of South Carolina be able to speak with us in January? If you have availability, please let me know and I can provide some specific dates/times for a 45-minute phone call. I will send over a set of discussion questions as soon as I hear back from you.

Thank you very much for considering our request and we look forward to speaking with you.

Best Regards,
 Sarah Arnett
